I'll Be Faithful To You-Don Williams
Author:Paul Kennerley

```
C                       F
I can see your heart is aching
C                     G7    C
He hurt you more than h-e knew
                          F     C
But should you ever want to love again
        G7          C
I'll be faithful to you

                        F
You been crying like a willow
C                           G7  C
When the night bird sings so bl--ue
                         F           C
Trust was broken but the hearts will heel
           G7          C
And I'll be faithful to you

        G7                   C
In this world of pain and sorrow
                           G7  C
Where a promise won't hold tr--ue
                         F    C
Here's a vow you can be sure of
        G7          C
I'll be faithful to you

                           F
So let me dry away your lonesome tears
C                          G7  C
Like the sun melts morning d--ew
                         F         C
And I will wrap you up in true true love
           G7          C
And I'll be faithful to you
