A Million Years From Now-Webb Pierce

```
C                                G7
A million years from now I'll remember
                                    C
The way your eyes tonight are all aglow
                                          G7
When the flame of love has burned to an ember
                                        C
I'll remember then that night of long ago

       G7                          C
May my kiss often bring you fond memories
        D7                         G7
May you think of me each day and night
           C                              G7
Though your love for me may dim in the future
Darling I'll still care a million years from now
