Well a long time ago a little girl loved a boy
       C           G                  Em
And it filled her heart with so much joy
          G              Em            G
One day he left her didn't tell her goodbye
                        Em                 G           D7   G
Broke the little girl's heart and made the poor little girl cry

                  Em                          G
And the rose was born from her tears that fell
            Em                                  G
All heaven cried with her that's the story they tell
                Em              G
When you see a rainbow after a storm
                     Em                  D7                        Em
You know a love has died a little girl cried and a rose's been born
G      D7       G
(And a rose was born)

     C          G              C          G
Well time moved along a little boy met a girl
        C            G                       Em
And she captured his heart and set him in a whirl
           G                Em           G
One day she left him didn't tell him goodbye
                       Em                 G           D7  G
Broke the little boy's heart and made the poor little boy cry

                  Em                         G
But a thorn was born from the tears he shed
                     Em                      G
And down through the ages to the rose has been wed
            Em                    G
And just a reminder a sign meant to warn
              Em                D7                    Em
A little boy lied a little boy cried and a thorn was born
G      D7        G
(And a thorn was born)

                       Em           G
That's a story of the rose and the thorn
                       Em
That's a story of the rose and the thorn
G                      Em           G
That's a story of the rose and the thorn
