All Together Now Let's Fall Apart-Ronnie Milsap
Author:Johnny Koonse

```
C                G7          C    F C
All together now let's fall apart

                                                      C7
Lips are you ready to tremble hands are you ready to shake
F                  C    D7                   G7
Eyes get ready to cry  heart get ready to break
C                                      C7                F
Here she comes she's getting closer is everyone ready to start
C                G7          C    F  C
All together now let's fall apart

                                                        C7
Nerves you'll be going to pieces tears you'll run down my face
F                       C           D7                        G7
Head you'll be spinning around it's time every one take your place
C                                      C7                  F
We're all in this thing together my body my mind and my heart
C                G7          C     F  C
All together now let's fall apart

F                                          C
I couldn't keep her from leaving though I tried oh Lord how I tried
    D7                                    G7
But she fell in love with somebody new I guess that's him by her side
C                                            C7                    F
Here she comes now she's getting closer does everyone remember your part
C                G7          C     F
All together now let's fall apart
C              G7          C
All together now let's fall apart
```