Almost Hear The Blues-Stonewall Jackson

```
C                                G7
The night winds whisper softly why did you do her wrong
                                        F                          C
In the distance there's a coyote howl sounds like his love is gone
                                                  C7                        F
My heart is chilled by a whippoorwill as the train pulls out with you
       C                    G7                C
Listen close and you can almost hear the blues

    F                                    C
You can almost hear the blues in the rain that's pouring down
     F                                   C                G7
That lovely crackle to the fire seems to have a lonesome sound
C                               C7              F
As I walk the time away just listen to my shoes
       C                    G7                C
Listen close and you can almost hear the blues

                                    G7
The rumble of the river flowing by my cabin door
                                                  F                  C
I could swear I heard it tell me son she won't be back no more
                                                    C7                    F
As the night winds whine a coyote pines my heart cries out for you
       C                    G7                C
Listen close and you can almost hear the blues

Repeat #2

                            G7                C
Listen close and you can almost hear the blues
