Another Bridge to Burn-Ray Price
Author:Harlan Howard

```
C                            C7          F
I've had to burn most every bridge I've crossed
   G7                                    C
It seems like every time I've loved I'd lost
                              C7         F
When I met you I thought the tide would turn
    G7                                  C
But now you're just another bridge to burn

     G7                               C
I'll soon light the match and move on
     D7                           G7
I've already waited much too long
   C                          C7      F
Now I'm so hurt and you're so unconcerned
        G7                                C
And our love's just another bridge to burn

                        C7          F
Sometimes one must love enough for two
   G7                                  C
And that's how it's been with me and you
                              C7    F
Now I'm so hurt and you're so unconcerned
        G7                                C
And our love's just another bridge to burn

     G7                               C
I'll soon light the match and move on
     D7                           G7
I've already waited much too long
   C                          C7      F
Now I'm so hurt and you're so unconcerned
        G7                                C
And our love's just another bridge to burn
```