As Long As The Winds Blow-Jim and Jesse
Author:Curly Putman

```
G
No one can ever hold the wind
         C                                G
So don't waste your time holding on to me
      D7                               G
Just let me love then I'll be gone again
     A7                              D7       G
For there's one thing little girl you must see

As long as the winds blow as long as the rivers flow
    D7                          G
As long as the train whistles scream

As long as the wild goose flies as long as the flood tides rise
D7                               G
There's just no way of holding me

Mister this chain gang can never hold
  C                                  G
A man with such a wandering restless soul
      D7                                                 G
Just turn your back and that's the last time you'll see
A7                      D7          G
This old wandering boy from Tennessee

Momma it's so good to be back home
         C                                  G
It's not right for you and papa to be here alone
     D7                              G
But listen to that late evening train
      A7                           D7      G
Well I coulda swore I heard it call my name
