G                                          D7
I filled the house with gadgets so you'd never have to slave
                                         G
And now you're out two-timing me with time I helped you save
                                         C
The place is full of buttons that you push for every chore
    D7                                            G
But when you push your pop around you won't push anymore

                    D7
Automatic Mama you operate too fast
                                   G
Slow down you'll wind up with your heart in a cast
                   C
Automatic Mama be careful what you do
D7                                           G
Those new contraptions will be the death of you

                                      D7
I bought a handy gadget that leaves dishes high and dry
                                          G
And keeps your hands like velvet for some other lucky guy
                           C
I found another gadget to speed up the kitchen stove
    D7                                                  G
Now papa knows what's cooking and he's burning while you rove

                                      D7
That new electric washer made your headaches disappear
                                       G
You used to hang out washing now you hang out drinking beer
                                  C
Your fancy vacuum cleaner picks up dirt the easy way
    D7                                                G
But I picked up some dirt myself here's all I got to say
