```
C
If you see me in some corner looking like all hope is gone
       F                                          C
If you see me sit for hours and you wonder what is wrong
                                        F
Well it hurts to talk about it but my world just fell apart
      C                                G7             C
I'm a walkin' talkin' cryin' barely beatin' broken heart

Did you see the teardrops fallin' and the tremble in my hands
            F                                            C
Then you'll know that there's a story and nobody understands
                                       F
It's a sad and lonely story but I'll try to make it short
      C                                G7             C
I'm a walkin' talkin' cryin' barely beatin' broken heart

           F                                 C
Should you wonder how I got this way then listen listen good
   F                                  C                G7
He left me for another thought he'd be the last who would
       C                              F
So I'm tryin' to forget him lookin' for a place to start
      C                               G7             C
I'm a walkin' talkin' cryin' barely beatin' broken heart
```

Repeat #3 You may wonder...
