```
G          D7         G                      C
No need to say you're sorry no need to feel ashamed
               G           A7                     D7
If I'm not the one you love don't feel you're to blame
G       D7      G                               C
I don't deny it hurts me and this pain is hard to hide
                        G          D7       G
But at least I lived a little while before I died

C                               G
I lived long enough to know the sweet thrill of your lips
A7                      D7
I knew happiness right down to my fingertips
G                                               C
You'll always be a part of me though you can't be mine
                   G            D7       G
At least I lived a little while before I died

             D7        G                                C
Don't ask me to forget you cause you mean too much to me
                   G          A7           D7
I couldn't even if I tried too many memories
G        D7        G                                    C
My yesterdays were happy days and each memory's locked inside
                   G            D7       G
At least I lived a little while before I died
