G              G7        C
I couldn't see beyond my heart
         D7                G
I didn't see your cheating start
                G7           C
I thought you'd be so true to me
          D7               G   C
Beyond my heart I couldn't see

G             D7                                  G
Stealing your love from someone else was much to easy
  D7                                 G
I thought oh what a Casanova I must be
  D7                                        G
I should have known that something I could steal so easy
      A7                              D7
Could be stolen just as easily from me

G              G7        C
I couldn't see beyond my heart
         D7                G
I didn't see your cheating start
                G7           C
I thought you'd be so true to me
          D7               G
Beyond my heart I couldn't see
