```
C                                  G7
You can see the ad in the morning paper
                                        C
This house for sale the owner's leaving town
         F                      C
He won't need it any longer  you'll like the price you'll give
        G7                                          C
For the big house on the corner where love used to live

                               G7
She was all I had all I ever wanted
                                     C
But now she's gone so I can't stay in town
        F                             C
I'm the lonely man that's selling  for most any price you'll give
        G7                                          C
For the big house on the corner where love used to live

     F                      C
This hap-py couple used to live there
                                           G7
Until the winds of sorrow left it alone and bare
        F                                C
I'm the lonely man that's selling  for most any price you'll give
        G7                                          C
For the big house on the corner where love used to live
        G7                                          C
For the big house on the corner where love used to live
