C                                  G7
And so I finally get the chance to love you
F                  G7              C
Just when I thought everything was lost
                                     G7
But he walked out on you and now you need me
F                  G7              C
You want me to take up where he left off

             G7                        C
So I've got  big shoes to fill and I do the best I can
       G7                               C
I just hope my best is good enough for you
              G7                       C
Yes I've got  big shoes to fill and I hear he wore them well
F                 G7                                    C
But don't forget  he used these shoes to walk right out on you

                                      G7
I know how it must hurt to know you've lost him
F                      G7             C
But truth is sometimes pretty hard to face
                                   G7
Well all that I can promise is to love you
F                     G7           C
And hope somehow that I can take his place

             G7                        C
So I've got  big shoes to fill and I do the best I can
       G7                               C
I just hope my best is good enough for you
              G7                       C
Yes I've got  big shoes to fill and I hear he wore them well
F                 G7                                    C
But don't forget  he used these shoes to walk right out on you
