Don't Bother To Cry-Eddy Arnold
Author:Bob Merrill

```
C                                F
Don't bother to cry cause I ain't looking
               C                  G7
Don't bother to sigh cause I won't hear
    C                  F
You told me a lie and I believed you
          C              G7          C
Though you cry and you're still lying dear

        F       C
Weep no more my lady
F                  C
Oh weep no more and moan
          F         C
Save your teardrops baby
                                                 G7
Cause your daddy's loving heart has turned to stone

C                                    F
Don't tell me you'll die if I should leave you
                   C                      G7
Don't pull at your hair it won't help at all
    C                           F
You did it before and fooled my heart dear
        C             G7          C
Now you might as well talk to the wall

                                   F
Don't bother to cry cause I ain't looking
               C                  G7
Don't bother to sigh cause I won't hear
  C                                F
I played the game fair but you've been cheating
       C          G7             C
As you sow so you reap so sorry dear
