C                              F
I've still got my memories of you
   G7                                    C
At least I know they won't find someone new
                                        F
My tears are faithful company that's more than you would be
   C          G7        C
So don't feel sorry for me

                            F
I can hold a photograph of you
    G7                              C
And kiss two lips I know won't be untrue
                                   F
A picture can't tell lies to me while it's smiling tenderly
   C          G7        C
So don't feel sorry for me

     G7                            C
I've got walls to lean on when I cry
     G7                           C
This hurt can only last until I die
                                   F
And in my dreams I'll always see the you that used to be
   C          G7        C
So don't feel sorry for me

                                   F
And in my dreams I'll always see the you that used to be
   C          G7        C
So don't feel sorry for me
