Author:Barry and Maurice Gibb

```
G                                    D7
If you never rode west of the Arizona border
                       G                            C
You can turn the other way boy but you never get far
                 G                             C
You be living a lie if you wanna see the wonders of the age
          G          D7      G
You must follow the evening star

                                          C
Evening star shine a little Heaven on a stranger with no dream
D7
Where you are you can see the loneliness I mean
                 G                                  C
And if I gotta fight I can never play somebody else's game
       G          D7      G
I can follow the evening star
                D7         G        C
Starlight you never need somebody else's name
        G          D7      G
If you follow the evening star

                                                   D7
Have you ever known a sunset when the sky's on fire
                       G                            C
How you end another day boy you be searching too far
                    G                          C
Like the desert I rode on any memory is lost in the restless wind
        G                D7      G
I just lie beneath the evening star
