C                    F               C             G7
Last night I saw you standing on the corner of the street
    C                        F                        G7                C
But when I saw you there you didn't seem to care the company that you keep
                 F               C                   G7
For seeing what I saw you do was wrong as it could be
  C                        F                       G7                        C
I don't know what you said but the things you did broke a heart inside of me

  F                                  C
I don't mind you're flirting with the strangers that you meet
  F                              C                  G7
I don't mind the whistles that they give you on the street
    C                F                  C             G7
But holding you and kissing you when you belong to me
  C                            F             G7                          C
I love you anyhow but can't trust you now farther than my eyes can see

               F               C                    G7
Now maybe baby I'll forget the wrong you've done to me
    C        F                  G7              C
And we'll be together then the way we used to be
                 F          C                   G7
But my believing in you now it will be hard to know
     C              F                   G7                 C
It's not so much for what you did it's why that hurts me so

Repeat #2

G7                       C
Farther than my eyes can see
