Fool That I Am-Billy Walker

```
G                      D7                                  G
Fool that I am I still love you fool that I am I still want you
           D7                            G
There is no night that goes by that my heart doesn't try
   D7                      G
To love someone new but a new love just won't do
                                D7
Fool that I am there's still a burning
                                      G
Yet I'm glad to be this fool that I am

             D7                       G
Why can't my heart realize that your kisses told lies
               D7                            G
My friends all say that I'm a fool to go on wanting you
                                     D7
But fool that I am there's still a burning
                                       G
Yet I'm glad to stay this fool that I am
