Girls In Disgrace-Jean Shepard
Author:Dan Welch and Mary McDaniel

```
C                                   C7          F
So faithfully you promised me we'd marry in the spring
  G7                                                C
A year has passed and now at last I see through everything
                                    C7              F
Just like a fool I let you rule this heart inside of me
    G7                                            C
Now you don't care how many years I'll spend in misery

F                                       C
Girls in disgrace must surely face the gossips of the town
D7                                    G7
And every time she's passing by they greet her with a frown
C                                  C7               F
You constantly reveal to me that you could never be
    G7                                              C
The kind of man to understand girls in disgrace like me

                                    C7              F
So patiently I've tried to see and understand your game
    G7                                            C
I'd even wait night after night you seldom ever came
                                              C7            F
I know you'll say I'm all to blame I know you just can't see
    G7                                              C
How I could think so much of you and never think of me
```

Repeat #2