```
G7                                    C
(God made her special especially for me)

                            F
She's a woman I know that He must have made
    G7                                  C
And we know that heaven never made a mistake
                                  F
For He made her so perfect as only God can
   G7                             C
He created a woman for this lonely man

                      F
Each morning the sun refuses to shine
     G7                                          C
Till she opens her blue eyes and tells me she's mine
                                          F
There's no darkness in my world when she's standin' by
    G7                                C
Yes God made her special and I know why

    F                      C
Yes God made her special and He made her for me
      F                          C                G7
Cause I think He wanted the whole world to see
C                                 F
Now I know that one day He'll need her again
G7                                                 C
But I hope that He'll let her be mine until then
