I'd Rather Go On Hurtin'-Joe Sun

```
C                      F                  C
It would be so easy to just pick up this phone
                    Am                F                            C
One thin dime could make you mine but come morning I'd leave you alone
                                  F                    C
Another night without you is a hell of a price to pay
                             Am                   F          G7    C
But it would be so wrong to lead you on while a life time slips away

                             Am
So I'd rather go on hurtin' go on hurtin'
F                C            F     G7      C
I'd rather go on hurtin' than go on hurtin' you
                               Am
Yes I'd rather go on dying than see you crying
    F            C            F     G7      C
I'd rather go on hurtin' than go on hurtin' you
     F     G7      C
Than go on hurtin' you

                               F                      C
Girl you know I love you and I know that you love me too
                          Am              F                C
But no one knows but the Lord above what love has put us through
                               F               C
This ring upon my finger is a chain around my heart
                            Am               F            G7  C
And though I'm missing you I love her too and it's tearing me apart

Repeat #2

                             Am
So I'd rather go on hurtin' go on hurtin'
F                C            F     G7      C
I'd rather go on hurtin' than go on hurtin' you
                               Am
Yes I'd rather go on dying than see you crying
    F            C            F     G7      C
I'd rather go on hurtin' than go on hurtin' you
              Am
Go on hurtin' go on hurtin'
    F            C            F     G7      C
I'd rather go on hurtin' than go on hurtin' you
