C                    G7   C                      F     C
Packed my things and went away a thousand years ago today
                                        G7
For I had places to go and things to see
C                 G7       C                     F      C
I had a girl who loved me so and she begged me not to go
                          G7                    C
But I left and took her pleading words with me

C7      F               C
I'll be waiting always waiting
                                            G7
I love you and I'll miss you while you're gone
  C                             F
I know you have to do what your heart tells you to
           C                             G7      C
So I'll be waiting till it tells you to come home

                    G7       C                          F      C
All the things I'd hoped to find I soon learned I'd left behind
                                        G7
So I told myself ol boy let's us go home
C                    G7      C                           F      C
Cause our darling's waiting there and she said she'd always care
                    G7                 C
And the echo of her promise leads me on

C7      F               C
I'll be waiting always waiting
                  F          C           G7       C
I'll be waiting till your heart tells you come home
C7      F               C
I'll be waiting always waiting
```

Spoken:
Well I got back home today and I almost wished I'd stay away

For I left here with a smile and now I weep

Oh she kept her promise alright and she's waiting here tonight

Still waiting neath the ground where she's asleep

```
                  F          C           G7       C
I'll be waiting till your heart tells you come home
```
