I'll Still Be Missing You-Connie Smith
Author:Warner McPherson

```
C             F
I'll still be missing you
                    C
Just as long as the sun shines through
          G7
No matter what I do
              F       C
I'll still be missin' you

                     F                  C
I told myself when I walked out that door
                          G7          C
Don't look back you don't need him anymore
                       F                      C
Out there somewhere a new world you're gonna find
                  G7                 C
So walk away and leave the rest to time

              F
I'll still be missing you
Just as long as the sun shines through
            G7
Pretending that I'm not blue
              F       C
I'll still be missin' you

                F
Tried to find a place to hide
                       C
Where I can ease you from my mind
          G7
No matter what I do
              F       C
I'll still be missing you

                       F                    C
What a fool I was to think that I could leave
              G7                 C
A way of life already built in me
                          F                 C
Now all those times that used to seem so bad
                       G7           C
I know now were the best I ever had
