C                 C7          F
I'm blue again my friends all said I'd be
         G7                            C
I'm blue again because you're leaving me
                  C7      F
This heart of mine so well remembers you
         G7                             C
Although I've lost your love to someone new

C7             F       G7              C
The nights are long so long my darling hear me
            D7                                  G7
I pray that dawn will come and somehow you'll be near me
         C        C7       F
I'm blue again my heart is filled with tears
         G7                            C
I'm blue again as I think of wasted years
