I'm Not Ready Yet-Marty Robbins

```
C                      G7
Always knew you'd find another
                                  C
And my way of life I'd have to rearrange
                                G7
Thought I'd give when you were ready
                                    C
Now I find it very hard to make the change

         F                        C
It's all over now  I'll make the change somehow
         G7                       C
I'll get over you what else is there to do
C7              F                  C
Though I'm not ready yet I know I must forget
              G7                                C
I'll make the change somehow though I'm not ready now

                                  G7
I'm surprised I thought I'd make it
                                                C
I've been trainin' for this day a long long time
                         G7
Now I find that I'm not ready
                                               C
To accept the fact that you're no longer mine
