```
C                                                          G7
When I thought that I could trust you I would find you let me down
                                      C
Seems like making me unhappy was your fun
                                    F
So we finally had our breakup but since then I have found
       G7                                            C
I'm so miserable without you it's like having you around

          F                                  C
It's like having you around except there is no in between
   G7                                   C
No moments with small hope of love was found
       F                                  C
I keep trying to forget you and to bring the curtain down
       G7                                            C
I'm so miserable without you it's like having you around

                                                              G7
Oh you wouldn't think one person could make another feel so bad
And with you it's just one heartache all the time
                                                  F
But I thought the night we called it quits at last some peace I'd found
         G7                                              C
But I'm so miserable without you it's like having you around
