C      E7        F        C
If cry-ing would make you here
                              G7
I would cry a million tears or more
C      E7        F        C
If cry-ing would make you here
                     G7             C
I would shed all the tears I have in store

F                                   C
It seems like only yesterday  you promised to be mine
   D7                                  G7
We took the vows that lovers make and I woke up to find
     C         E7       F      C
That you  were gone and I  was alone
                              G7
Now the stars for me no longer shine
C      E7        F        C
If cry-ing would make you here
                 G7                 C
I would cry tears enough to make you mine

               E7        F       C
And now you're gone  and I'm all alone
                          G7
The stars for me no longer shine
C      E7        F        C
If cry-ing would make you here
                 G7                 C
I would cry tears enough to make you mine
