C                    C7               F
Here she comes again  looking like the dream she's always been
      G7                           C
There she goes again breaking my heart
                   C7              F
Here I am again  feeling like the fool that never wins
G7                      C
Here I go again falling apart

        C7                           F
Lord I wish that it could be like old times again
G7                                F              C
I wish that I could hold her the way I held her then
          C7                                  F
But we've seen the last of love and it's useless to pretend
C                       Am       G7         C
Cause it's never gonna be  like old times again

             C7                    F
Look at me  still clinging to a memory
G7                                    C
And look at her clinging to someone else
               C7                F
Look at them  she's so much in love with him
G7                               C
And look at us there's nothing left
```

C                    Am       G7         C
No it's never gonna be  like old times again
