Live And Learn-Ricky Nelson
Author: Clyde Pitts

```
G
Your baby said goodbye like I knew she would
               D7               G
This time your baby is gone for good
                  C                   G
Well she found true love with another man
            D7                          G
So live and learn to forget her if you can

              C                    G
Just live and learn it's a game of love
            D7                G
Sent down to you now from up above
              C                             G
And it's up to you to make the love light burn
              D7                                    G
Just live and learn live and learn baby live and learn

If you've got a good gal you'd better treat her right
                    D7                          G
Give her plenty good loving morning noon and night
                       C                   G
Because she might leave town on a midnight train
                 D7                                          G
And then you're tears are gonna fall like the cold cold rain

                    C                     G
You gotta live and learn it's a game of love
                 D7                               G
And hope little cupid will give your heart a shove
                 C                         G
Well you gotta know when it comes your turn
               D7                                  G
Just live and learn live and learn  baby live and learn

                    C                     G
You gotta live and learn it's a game of love
            D7                G
sent down to you now from up above
              C                             G
And it's up to you to make the love light burn
              D7                                    G
Just live and learn live and learn baby live and learn

                    D7                                      G
You gotta live and learn baby live and learn live and learn
                    D7                                   G
You gotta live and learn live and learn live and learn
```