My Confessions-Ray Price
Author:Bob Wills

```
C                          G7
Sweetheart I'm all alone tonight
                           C
Thinking about my wasted past
                             G7
I see that you were always right
                              C
And now I'm at your feet at last

G7
Take my heart and let it live
                          C
This is all I have to give
                               G7
So please believe me when I say
                                      C
For all the wrongs I've done I'll pay

                               G7
Sweetheart you know I love you so
                          C
Why did I ever let you go
                                    G7
In dreams you're all that I can see
                           C
So won't you reconsider me

G7
My confession to you dear
                          C
Makes me shed a silent tear
                                    G7
My heart would be so light sweetheart
                                 C
If you would say we'll never part
```