She's Got A Single Thing In Mind-Conway Twitty
Author:Walt Aldridge

```
C                                  Am
She can't find the words to break it to me
                  F              C
Cause she always was the gentle kind
                                   Am
She's hoping I'll hear it from a friend somewhere
                   F               C
She's hoping I'll read between the lines

Am                     G7
But it comes as no surprise
          Am                G7
Cause she told me with her eyes
             C                      Am
So watch her untie the ties that bind
            F                 C
She's got a single thing in mind

                               Am
She's already gone except in body
            F                 C
It's just a matter now of time
                                          Am
But I should have seen the storm clouds gathering
                   F                      C
But he who won't look is just as blind

           Am          G7
So there's only me to blame
        Am              G7
When my woman drops my name
             C                      Am
So watch her untie the ties that bind
            F                 C
She's got a single thing in mind

             C                      Am
So watch her untie the ties that bind
            F                 C
She's got a single thing in mind
