Subconscious Mind-Jim Reeves

```
G              D7    G
I thought last night that I saw someone
                  C
I really ought to know
                               G
Then I stopped for a while and tried to remember
     A7                D7
Cause that's been so long ago

G             D7    G
Just couldn't place that sweet little face
                            C
Like words to some old love song
                            G
But I whispered a name I thought I'd forgotten
     D7                    G
That my foolish heart belonged

 C                        G
A subconscious mind plays tricks sometimes
      D7                        G
Like a little voice whispering within
    C
And dreams have a way of bringing back yesterday
   A7                    D7
And my foolish heart ever win

G              D7      G
Seems so very strange how old memories
                                  C
Can come back and knock on your door
                     G
Before last night I thought I had forgotten
    D7                 G
But today I'm not so sure
