[3/4 time]
Author: Jim Reeves and Al Courtney

```
G                          C          G
If all of the stars were a million guitars
        D7                        G
And the moon was the girl that I loved
                           C           G
If they played for me and to each melody
         D7                    G
We could dance in the heavens above

                           C         G
If all of my wishes turned out to be kisses
        D7                         G
From an angels sweet face full of charm
                                    C          G
Make believe this real then you'll know how I feel
         D7                        G
When I'm waltzing with you in my arms

Waltzing with my darling
     C                 G
In a paradise with my girl
                           C              G
The moment I found you my heart left the ground
      D7                      G
To go waltzing on top of the world

                           C             G
If all of the stars should lay down their guitars
     D7                           G
That never would mean we should pause
                           C               G
The man in the moon might catch on to this tune
    D7                           G
And play our love song while we waltz

                              C               G
We'd go right on dancing and find sweet romancing
     D7                   G
Then when we'd linger to love
                           C                   G
My darling how sweet you'd look swinging your feet
       D7                        G
From a silver lined cloud high above
