C                  F           G7       C

Faded
photographs   the feelings all come back

                                G7

Even now sometimes  you feel so near

C                           F       G7       C

And
I still see your face   like it was yesterday

G7                                     C

It's
strange how the days turned into years

                       F

Years
of hanging on    to dreams already gone

G7                          C

Years of wishing you were here

                       F

After all this time    you'd think I wouldn't cry

G7                                                  C

It's
just  that I still love you   after all these years

                        F       G7     C

Nighttime
gently falls   another day is gone

                                        G7

I
turn around to find   you're still not here

C                           F          G7       C

I leave the hall light on   in case you come back home

G7                                C

But I've been saying that  for years

                      F

Years
of hanging on   to dreams already gone

G7                          C

Years of wishing you were here
