You'd Still Find A Way To Cheat On Me-Jean Shepard
Author:Jack Rhodes, Billie Jo Spears, Henry Ebner

```
G                     C           G
I could lock you in a deep darken dungeon
                                  D7
Put a big ball and chain on your feet
     G               C           G
Even dress you in an old suit of armor
                   D7              G
You'd still find a way to cheat on me

      C                         G
Every night finds you out with another
                                  D7
Every dawn finds you down on your knees
     G               C              G
Your lips say you're sorry but your mind knows
                    D7              G
You'll still find a way to cheat on me

                    C           G
You and I could live alone on an island
                                  D7
With my arms holding you constantly
     G                C             G
With no friends no telephones and no taverns
                   D7              G
You'd still find a way to cheat on me
