You Changed Everything-Norma Jean
Author:Hank Cochran and Jeannie Seely

C           F
You changed everything about me but my name
                                        G7
My self respectin' pride had turned to shame

And after all you changed you changed your mind
                                        C
You changed everything about me but my name

                                F
It started out so easy just a simple change or two
     G7                                      C
I'd do anything you wanted if it was pleasin' you
                                      F
Guess you didn't know what you wanted cause after you got through
G7                                                    C
Changin' me to someone else you changed to someone new

repeat #1 x2
