C                        F
Well you tell me that you care
              G7             C
But now you're gone you got me crying
      G7                  C
No use denying you done me wrong
                           F
If I could look inside your heart
     G7              C
Maybe I would know the reason
           G7               C
Why you are leaving me all alone

    G7
Well you know it's not so
         F
When you say you tried well you know you lied
 C                          G7
I didn't do one wrong thing to you
                        F
Won't you tell me baby why
            G7             C
You went and left me here so lonely
          G7             C
I miss you only for I love you

                     F
Did I ever make you sad
           G7                  C
So you'd be mad enough to hurt me
     G7             C
And desert me for so long
                         F
Well you're telling everyone
        G7                  C
What you done you think it's funny
           G7                C
Well listen honey you done me wrong
