G                        C                 G
A shoulder to cry on is all you want from me
    D7                                     G
Someone to share your heartaches when you cry
                                    C          G
Someone you can depend on who will always be around
    D7                               G
I'm nothing more than just your old standby

   C
If you could call me darling if you could call me dear
A7                                  D7
If you could learn to love me by and by
  G                              C                      G
I wouldn't mind this waiting for I could stand the pain
D7                                    G
I'd be more to you than just your old standby

                                C                          G
You wouldn't call me darling and you wouldn't call me dear
D7                                 G
I wonder if you'll miss me when I die
G                           C              G
You have no consideration you show no sympathy
    D7                                 G
I'm nothing more than just your old standby
