Your Time's Coming-Faron Young
Author: Kris Kristofferson and Shel Silverstein

```
G
Well I knew she belonged to someone else at the time
                                  D7
But lonely look in women are a weakness of mine

So I bought all she said about the love he never gave her

And figured I just love her some and do us both a favor

     G
Just as I got up to leave he walked through the door
                       G7          C
And I guess I thought he'd be surprised
       D7
But he looked at me as if to say he's been there before

And he offered me these words to the wise

G
He said you know she's a cheater son

But you believe that you're the one
                                        D7
Who's got a lot of what it takes to change her

And I've no doubt that you can't get her

You ain't much but that don't matter
                                     G
Nothing suits her better than a stranger

And the stranger man the better

And the chances are she'll set her

                        G7             C
Eyes on you the next time she goes slumming
   D7
So you sit back and wait your turn boy

You got lots of times to learn boy
                                      G
Cool it while you can your time's coming

Well it happens that in time it happened just like he said
                                            D7
And soon enough her shoes were setting under my bed

And I'll confess I did my best to prove that man had lied

But nothing short of suicide could keep her satisfied

         G
So buddy losing her to you was just a matter of time
                                  G7        C
And it's her time for finding something new
  D7
Nothing I can say is gonna make you change your mind

So I'll just give the same advice to you

Repeat #3,4,5

       D7                                        G
I said cool it while you can cause your time's coming
